W. H. GISSON ON A VISIT TO JOHN G. BRES LIN.—The Cleveland Daily Review, of Monday, says: "W. H. Gibron, of treasury defaulting notoriety, Cooper K. Watson, of Tiffin, and Thomas Sparrow, Esq., of Columbus, were at the American House, on Christmas night, on their way back from Hamilton, Canada, where they had been to visit the rascal Breslin, talk over old times, and gossip as to the chances of pulling the wool over the eyes of the Legislature, and the Courts and Lawyers, we suppose."

Lawyers, we suppose."

Hon. Owen Lovesov.—During the discussion on the Treasury Note Bill, some new members on the Republican side of the House, made speeches—among them Mr. Owen Lovejoy, of Illinois, the brother of Rev. Ellish Parcial Lovejoy, who was shot in defence of the liberty of the press, at Alton, twenty years ago. Mr. Lovejoy gave a heavy blow at Slavery in passing. It was refreshing to hear a denunciation of Slavery, in Washington, in 1857, by the brother of the martyr, in terms far more severe than those for which he was murdered in a Free State, in 1837. "The world does move," said Gallileo.—Albany (N. Y.) Journal.

is about to commence an engagement in this city. The Memphis Bulletin, of a recent date, speaks as is about to commence an engagement in this city. The Memphis Bulletin, of a recent date, speaks as follows of Mr. Couldock's success in that city;

Now that Mr. Couldock's name has been for years associated with the character of "Luke Fleding," as its recognized delineator, it would be absurd to question its merits. It will be a pertlment question to inquire wherein these merits consists and a very ready answer would occur—that it consisted in the variety and intensity of the affections delineated—the fatherly love, the indignation and grief at learning the ruin of his daughter, the wildness of incipient insanity in the third act, the imbecility of confirmed mental aberation and the tenderness of—returning affection and reason in the last. But there are other actors capable of representing every phase of feeling and passion with as ansolt truth as Mr. Couldock, and we have to seek his distinguishing merits in some other quality. We think it is to be found in the completeness with which he indontifies himself with the character he assumes. The plain, hearty English farmer stands before us, drawn to the life, and though in the broken-hearted father of the third act, and the houseftess, disreputable vagrant of the fifth, all his circumstances are so completely reversed, yet the identity of the character is not lost for a moment. The ragged mendicant of St. Glee is as much and distinctively Luke Fleiding as the bluff leant of the Norfolk farm; and yet while so identically the same, how widely distinct from everything else acted by this artist—from Louis XI—front John Mildmay, etc. This, then, we conclude is Mr. Couldock we mended the steps upon the stage fill the curtain falls. In other artists you recognize no Couldock on the stage, you see Luke Fleiding, Glles, fillings, forgretting the artists, and this is the noblest triumph which art can achieve. Mr. Couldock was greeted last night with the hargest audience ever dren, &c., and from that time till the 29th day of August last, I'never haw him to my knowledge, nor did I know aught of his whereabouts. But the Press, it seems, would have it that I perjured myself by swearing that I did not see him till I came to Chicago, which is untrue, for I never made such a statement, either under oath or otherwise, and I believe that Justice Grants, the City Attorney, the Captain of Police, and all who know anything that the case will have me out in saving I did not. bout the case, will bear me out in saying I did not about the case, will bear me out in saying I did not. But to my statement. My father did not, to my knowledge, repute himself rich, nor did he say he was able to make his children wealthy. He was well dressed, and had probably one hundred and fifty dollars, but not of counterfeit money, as the Press would insinuste, but in gold, and from this the "wise acres" of Middleport inferred that he was rich, and so reported it. As for myself, I was in a critical position at that time, being considerably in debt, having a wife and child to support, and nothing to sid me but my own good hands. I did bly in debt, having a wife and child to support, and nothing to aid me but my own good hands. I did not work at my trade, which is that of a printer, for two reasons—first, because it did not agree with me to be confised in doors, and secondly, I could not make as much as I could on a farm, as I am a very slow compositor, at the best. Therefore, as I wanted to "live at my case." I went to work on a farm, and also upon a threshing machine. My father, learning how I was situated, offered to cluded that we had better come to Chicago and go to keeping house, work what time we could this winter, and if we could make enough, build a medel for a corn-planter which I had invented. We arrived here on the morning of the 9th of October, and I proceeded to Kankakee City the same day... On Sunday, the 11th, I went to my father-in-law's, where my wife and child were. My child I found very sick, so sick that we could not move him to's couple of weeks, and during the intival I went to Middleport. My child got better, however, so we arrived here on the 23d of October, father having a house ready for us to go into, as land been agreed

You have learned from Tetritorial papers of the action of the Legislature, at its extra session, from the adoption of the militia law, with several Brigadier Generals, and the famous Gen. Lane as Major General, down to the repeal of the rebellion act of the last session. Like the preceding Legislature, they seemed atraid of the Territorial Excentive, and were intent on taking power out of his hands and placing it in that of their tools. Before the Legislature was convened they pledged themselves to Mr. Stanton to stand by him, and do nothing but submit the Lecompton Constitution to a voice can give you nothing new in relation to them, with the exception that Lane, with some forly younteers, and the brass howitzer belonging in this place, have gone down. They will have the proud satisfaction of returning as they went, without having accomplished anything. Acting Governor Stanton has been applied to for troops, both for the Southern and Northern part of the Territory, but he has declined them, believing that the troubles are but private, which will soon adjust themselves.

Mr. Denver arrived here last week, and will enter upon the discharge of his official daties to day. The people seem very seems to include the supercede Mr. Stanton. From what I can

It would seem impossible to one not living here, that such a swindle could be forced upon a community like this, but it is a fact that many can attest with sorrow. There are a few who give it cred by taking it for goods, charging twenty-five 1 ent. extra for them, and loaning it to persons ewing total to the banking house where the stuff is paid

There was considerable (celtement in our city last eek on account of a trial before a Justice of the to a butcher, and told him he wanted good money to make a land payment. On the delivery of the cattle, the butcher gave him for pay an assortment of 'Nebraska.' The man not being able to read, took the bills and went to a store and asked if they were good. On being told that they were worthless, he returned them to the butcher, and on his refusing to give other money, he brought suit. After a long hearing before the Justice, who was so unmistakably to fower of the "Cat" that it was remarked by nearly n fovor of the "Cat" that it was remarked by near every person in the room, the Jury retired, and after remaining out all night, were discharged in the morning, not being able to agree.

The parties then commenced a new trial, with a new jury, who, after hearing the case, retired to remain another night, and to be discharged the next morning, not being able to agree—two in favor of Nebraska, and four against. The countryman, sick and disgusted with the farce, paid the costs, which amounted to nearly as much as he re-ceived for his cattle, and went home, rather than er trouble. PROGRESS OF THE WAR.

[Prom 3s St. Louis Republican, Tuesday's Editorial.]

The Wm. Campbell and the Florida arrived at Enferson City visiterday, but only a few of their passengers came down in the cars had night. Those from Kansas bring vary little news. The general fact, that the work of the Territory was in favor of the "Constitution with Slavery," is concurred in by all parties, though at some of the precincts there was a considerable vote for the "Constitution without Slavery." Such was the case at Wyandotte, where the votes, about 200, were nearly divided. At Leavenworth City the vote was 247, of [By Telegraph to the N. Y. Tribane.] [By Telegraph to the N. Y. Tribans.]

The Union prints a letter from Chief Justice Williams of Kansas, dated Lecompton, Dec. 16, relative to the disturbances at Fort Scott, which he says were not cansed by an attempt to collect taxes, but by the lawless, violent higher law Jim Lane, meh committing unprovoked outrages upon Pro-Slavery men, who are now besieged in Fort Scott. Judge Williams is a Pernsylvanian.

Ex. Gov. Walker intends to take the stump against the Administration in the South. He has letters approving his course from leading Democrats of Maryland and Texas.

At Leavenworth City the vote was 247, of which nine was for the "Constitution without Slavery." There was great excitement in Leavenworth City on the day of election—refies, pistols and bowie knives being paraded everywhere, by all parties, but no serious mischief was done to anybody. Et was rumored that an order had been issued by Gov. Denver for the arrest of Ges. Lane, who was at Fort Scott, but this is not well established.

[From Another Correspondent.]
WARRINGTON, Dec. 2 The Administration received yesterday large batch of official despatches and letter from private agents in Kansus, which were sub mitted to an extra Cabinet neeting, and occupied a five hours' sitting. There is no infelli ence verifying the previous telegraphic rum collision and bloodshed, and it is not credi d. Judge Williams's letter, published in the Union of to-day, is the only approximation to

Gen. Denver had received his commission, but has furnished no explanation for not accepting or acting under it. The belief here is that, as the Legislature overruled Secretary Stanton's vetoes, Denver was intimidated from assuming the responsibility. His course in this respect is depressed.

Gen. Harney's force is distributed with the alleged purpose of checking any outbreak at the election, but there is reason to fear that a condition of rebellion will be assumed on the slightest provocation of the Free State men in order to justify a collision.

Among the papers forwarded is a copy of the bill said to have been introduced before the Legislature, declaring it a felony to vote at the election of the twenty-first inst, but accompanied by no evidence of its passage.

Special agent Martin, writes on the 12th that the vote on the twenty-first will exceed Ransom's, and may reach six thousand. This, however, in doubted by the Administration. He says also that the President's Message was entirely satisfactory to the National Democrats, and the Kansas part was freely circulated in the Territory with the hope of affecting the result of the election.

The President is much perplexed by the condition of things, and if the election on the 4th of January extinguishes the Lecompton Constitution, as is expected, then his friends in Congress will combine against Douglas' enabling act.

THE HOGOS HANSAS BANK.

As an illustration, and for b.case in point, we will take the following: The Legislature of the territory at its last winter ession chartered a number of banks to issue currency, one of which, at Lecompton, was to have $50,000 in specie, to be sounted and certified by the Governor before it could begin work. In the late convention while providing for a rear bank of ernor before it could begin work. In the late convention, while providing for a new back of three millions, the fact came out in debate that the Lecompton bank, without a dollar in hard money, obtained its certificate from the Governor this summer past in this wise:

It borrowed $2,000, and, putting $1,000 into two bags, and while the Governor counted one bag at a time, the other was carried out and brought in again; and this was done until $50,000 were counted, and the certificate obtained.

Thus the bank was chartered—$2,000 answered as well as $50,000, or even $100,000—and everything went on joyously and smoothly until the fraud was detected—when then sudden convulsions took place—mysteries were

By the arrival of the Northern Light hast evening, we have California dates to the 5th inst. No event of marked importance had occurred in the Golden State.

The Mormons in Carson Valley were selling their immovable property for whatever they could get, and going off to Join Brigham Young. Nearly a thousand were ready to depart. Ex-Treessurer Bates had been tried for embanding the public funds, but the Jury did not agree, and he is to be tried again. Petitions are eirculated for signatures in some parts of the State asking for the emactment of a Sunday law. The miners are becoming greatly disantisfied at the presence of Chinamen. Those in the neighborhood of San Andreas, Calaveras County, lately met together and passed resolutions that after eix months no Chinamen should be allowed to work in that neighborhood, either as a holder of a claim or employee of another for wages. There had been rains, which fell opportunely both for farmers and miners. Business in San Francisco is generally considered looking up. A healthy tone pervades all classes. [From he St. Paul Minnesoffan, Dec. 28h.]
Below we give a tabular statement of the logus cote from Cass, Todd and Pembins, no one precinct of which was either canvassed or returned by a Register of Deeds of any County nor is there any pretence even that they were Still, these socundrels, Joseph R. Brown and Samuel Medatry, who are, we think, in some way connected or related to the "gentleman up country, who is fond of his joke," includes them in the canvass! The reason why they did so will appear by the figures:

FERMING. RAMING. [From the St. Paul Minnesoffan, Dec. 24th

PENSINA, St. Vincent.... Long Prairie... Chippewa Ager

The reason for including these returns in the canwass, although excluded by the Galbraith Resolution, according to Joseph's construction, it seems to us is sufficiently manifest, without further comment. All for Sibley, and none for Ramsey. The little Mille Lac County forgery was done up with more skill, by odds. Then, from these improperly received returns, and forged at that, amounting to 623, as shown by table, deduct Sibley's majority of 220, and it leaves that model of propriety just 380 in the vocative!

These returns, we repeat it, were neither canvassed or returned by a Register or Registers of Deeds of any county.

Look again at the result of this Kanvass. This bogus affair gives Sibley 240 majority over Ramsey, who is really and honestly elected by over 600 illegal votes, as even the returns in the Secretary's office will show.

And even taking the construction which Brown and Medary, at the instance of their masters, pluced upon the quoted resolution, Governor Ramsey is Governor elect, by 383 majority!

We say this is the vote, and the time is not majority!

We say this is the vote, and the time is not far distant when we hope to see it verified by the judgment of a Court of Justice.

On the evening of the 7th, Gen. Walker saw a launch put off from the Saratoga, filled with armed men, and proceed toward the mouth of the river. He sent Capt. Fayssoux to see what it meant. As the Captain approached the launch he was halled, and told that he could not go up the river. Captain P. replied, "This is a Nicaraguan boat, in Nicaraguan waters." But the same order was repeated.—" You cannot go up." Capt. Fayssoux asked by what authority he was forbidden. He was answered, "By orders of Commodore Paulding." Capt. F. asked who gave the order, and was answered, "By orders of Commodore Paulding." Capt. F. asked who gave the order, and was answered, and explain to the Commodore the position of General Walker's command—that a portion of his force was up the river—the necessity of the General's holding communication with it; if his force were to be kept prisoners is their own camp, and hampered in their operations, he wanted to know it as soon as possible.

On the morning of the 8th Captain Fayssoux west on Loard the Wabash. Soon afterwards General Walker noticed that the Commodore's pennant was moved from the Wabash to the Futton; soon there the Futton came into the harbor up to the hulk opposite the Transit Company's budding, and there landed a large force of sailors and marines. At the same time a number of small boats and custers fully manned and provided with boathowitzers were ranged in line in front of General Walker's camp. The Saratoga was also made to present her broadside.

Seeing that the Commodore intended to use force, Gen, Walker, to prevent accidental collision, ordered the whole guard to be disarmed. Soon Capt. Frederick Engle, Lisutenant commanding the Wabash, came up in his boat, landed in front of the General's quarters, and handed him a letter from the Commodore which concluded with a demand that he surrender to the United States, which demand was im of style cannot be ex-DRY GOODS AND CARPETS. Upon landing he took possession of Scott's buildings, and also of a schooner lying at the wharf. Cuptain Chatard, of the Saratoga, informed him that he must give up the schooner, and evacuate the buildings, which he did, moving further up the Point, where he hired a few small buildings, buts, I may call them, and hoisted his flag there.

He assumed that Point Arenas was head-quarters of the army of Nicaragus, and upon one occasion, when Lieut Cilley, of the Saratoga, in company with two other officers, landed on the Point, he was ordered to leave it. San Carlos, he could not communicate with them.

General Walker seems to feel the peculiarity of Anderson's position. He did not think the Cests Ricans were very likely to disturb, them, but, whatever occurred, the United States Government was alone responsible for the lives of the men. He referred to the great sacrifices which most of his men had made to go to Nicaragus, and of the losses and disappointments which this sudden interruption of their plans would occasion. He seems in excellent sufrits, no way doubtful of ultimate success, and more sanguine than ever. HUTCHINGS' his 47 five miles up the river, where they landed on the Gosta Rica side on the place of a Costa Rican by the name of Lino Pataca. Here they were joined by Anderson, and the whole force ascended the river to the vicinity of Castillo in the flat hottomed boats brought ont by the Fashlon. Landing, they marched on the fort, which was taken by surprise, and with little or no resistance. It is said that two of the garrison were killed. It was under command of Colonel Alvarado, and was nearly deserted, only the 40 persons named being found in it, the main portion having gone up to Fort San Carlos.

On Saturday, the 12th, 93 men were disputched to Norfolk in the Saratoga, and General Walker, with his Secretary, Mr. Tabor, were received on board the Wabash, which arrives as Aspinesis on Monday, morning, 14th. Mr. Tabor was formerly editor of a Stockton, California, paper, and had been convicted of murder in shooting the editor of the Stockton Rysullican. He escaped, through a pardon from the Governor.

It is not true, as stated in the Panama Ster, that Walker shed tears on hauling down his flag. When he was told by the Commodore on the Fulton that he was to be sent to the States on the Saratoga, he was very much agitated, and begged hard to be sent on some other vessel. There was a very bitter feeling cristing between Walker and Capt. Chatard, and the officers and men and the officers and men on the Saratoga—so hitter, indeed, that had Capt. Chatard, before the arrival of the Commodore, offered to molest Walker, a conflict would have been the result.
